Dear Colleagues,

You do not want to miss the International Conference on Industrial Packaging in Las Vegas, NV, taking place October 13–15, 2026, at The Cosmopolitan of Las Vegas.

Registration is now officially open.

This year's conference is shaping up to be one of the most exciting and important gatherings our industry has seen in years — bringing together many of the biggest names and brightest minds in industrial packaging from around the world.

Over three incredible days, attendees will experience unmatched networking opportunities, world-class speakers discussing timely topics including sustainability, regulations and labor challenges. We are hosting several unique social events that simply cannot be replicated anywhere else.

We encourage you to bring your leadership team, colleagues, customers, spouses, significant others, and families. In addition to the conference itself, we are planning a fantastic lineup of accompanying persons programs and tours designed to showcase some truly memorable Las Vegas experiences.

Suppliers have an amazing opportunity to showcase their products to the world's leading providers of industrial packagings. Information describing supplier exhibition and sponsorship opportunities can be found in an attachment to this Second Circular and the conference web site at <https://icip2026.com/>.

If you want to extend your stay, we have secured our conference room rate at The Cosmopolitan for the weekend prior to and following the conference, making it easy to turn the trip into a longer business, networking, or family getaway experience.

This is far more than just a conference — it's a great opportunity to reconnect with longtime industry friends, build new global relationships, exchange ideas, and help shape the future direction of our business together.

To register for the conference, please visit: <https://icip2026.com/>.

After completing your registration, you may reserve your hotel accommodations using the attendee booking link at <https://book.passkey.com/go/SRIP1026TC>
